SAM STRAGHAN DIES AFTER ACUTE HEART ATTACK

Was Born in New York;
Spent Many Years
In Antioch

Failing to rally after an acute heart attack, Sam Straghan, 77, died at his home on Corona street, Wednesday morning.

The deceased, who was born in New York, was married to Miss Bertha Hoskins in 1880. He lived practically all of his life in Antioch and vicinity. Prior to his moving to the village in 1915, Mr. Straghan lived on a farm a mile north of Antioch. He was janitor of the Methodist church for several years.

Besides his widow he is survived by a brother, John, Rosecrans; and a sister, Mrs. Mary Marshall, Grayslake.

Funeral services will be held from the Methodist church Saturday afternoon at two o'clock, with Rev. Philip Bohr officiating. Burial will be in the Hickory cemetery.

LOCAL PEOPLE TAKE PART IN INSTITUTE AT LAKE VILLA

Program Is Presented In Original and Interesting Manner

Due to the extreme cold weather, the attendance at the Leadership Training Institute, which was held at Lake Villa Methodist church, Saturday, was not so large as was anticipated, according to Miss Mary Stanley, who conducted the meeting in the capacity of superintendent for the Western district.

Those on the program presented their topics in an original and interesting manner and the discussions were saturated with suggestions for Sunday school teachers.

How About Paying 25 Cents For $75 Worth of Publicity

Let us say you have some old furniture for sale or maybe you want to rent a house, or hire a maid or sell a flock of chickens.

You could write a letter to each of the subscribers of the Antioch News. Let's see now, 1500 times a 2-cent stamp plus cost of stationery plus labor equals about $75.

Instead, why not write your message in a few words as possible, not over 30. In this case and send it in or call 43.

Estimate that there is an average of at least 3 persons in each family, 1500 families times 3 equals 4500, conscious of your wants.

FIVE CANDIDATES SEEK SHERIFF POST IN LAKE COUNTY

Tiffany Boosters Open Campaign With Banquet for Candidate

There is no dearth of shrewdly timber in Lake county, Illinois. That is certain. Five candidates who seek the honors and the duties to be passed to other hands next December by Sheriff Lawrence A. Doolittle make it plain that no draft is going to be necessary to fill the post which the law says no man can hold for two consecutive terms. Therefore Sheriff Doolittle can not be reelected, or "succeed himself"; as many voters and some newspapermen phrase it.

800 Attend Tiffany Banquet

Boosters for Lester T. Tiffany, Lake Forest chief of police, and the first candidate to announce for sheriff, tendered their favorite candidate a banquet at the Waukegan Masonic temple dining hall Thursday night, which was attended by more than 800 persons. The assembling represented every town and hamlet in the county, and 24 speakers praised Chief Tiffany's record for law enforcement. The banquet is reckoned as officially opening Tiffany's candidacy.

500 ATTEND LAKE COUNTY PURE MILK MEET AT GRAYSLAKE

Association Observes 1st Anniversary of Truce Following Strike

By C. L. KUTIL

Over 500 members of the Lake County Pure Milk association attended a huge meeting Tuesday evening at the opera house at Grayslake, the occasion being the celebration of the first anniversary of the truce agreed to by the farmers and the dealers following the strike last winter.

Don Guyer, general manager of the association, very thoroughly explained what has been accomplished during the year and outlined a program for the future.

"The fact that there is an oversupply of butter, cheese, and condensed milk on the market has been responsible for the drop in the price of milk", explained Mr. Guyer. On January 1, 1930, there were 82,000,000 pounds of butter in storage, as compared to a five-year average of 48,000,000 pounds the last five years. Similar conditions obtain in the cheese and condensed milk trade.

This surplus must be gotten rid of by increasing the consumption, shutting off imports from foreign countries, and cutting down production. The last is quite painful to the farmer as he must have the dollar value for living expenses and may even be tempted to produce more at a low price to get his dollar.

Condensery, creamery, and cheese factory patrons are receiving unusually low prices, explained Mr. Guyer, and only through co-operative marketing has the Pure Milk association been able to maintain the present high price. The surplus milk problem was discussed at length. Measures to control surplus are being taken.

A. M. Krph, director of publicity for the Pure Milk association, spoke of his spreading correct information of the dairyman and the general public regarding milk production and marketing. A comprehensive knowledge of the many angles of the dairy industry is proving of great aid toward amicable settlement of controversies that are ever arising between the producer and the marketing companies. The support given by the association to its members is demanded by a locality that is salubrious, in which the general community life is sane and wholesome. If a locality is to be selected by thinking parents, it must afford schools which take into account the individual needs of the children and regard recreation as a part of the educational program. Parents mindful of their children will look for a community where the social life is simple and friendly and where there is opportunity for training in music, art, and dramatics. These same parents will also seek a community where there is something of the educational and domestic guidance offered.

Mr. Royer, laboratory man of the association, explained the work of his department in checking weights and tests for the members. Approximately $600 is saved the members each month through the discovery of errors.

The Lake Zurich High School band played several selections previous to the meeting. Many from Antioch and vicinity were in attendance.

Former Sheriff in Race

Two former sheriffs of Lake county, Edwin Ahlstrom and Elmer Green, both of Waukegan, are again aspirants for the office. Green served two terms as sheriff and two terms as chief deputy sheriff in Lake county. Ahlstrom has served one term.

Green had charge of the jury which

FINAL TRIBUTE IS PAID TO MEMORY OF E. LEHMANN

Lived on Lindenhurst Farms in Lake Villa For Ten Years

Final tribute was paid to the memory of Ernest E. Lehmann of Lindenhurst Farms Tuesday when a small number of relatives and friends attended private funeral services at the town apartment, 420 Ronces st., Chicago. Mr. Lehmann, who was 43 years old, died on Saturday night after he had suffered a heart attack while dining at the Edgewood cafe.

Mr. Lehmann, who has been suffering from heart ailments for several years, had been warned, according to his physician, that a fatal attack might come at any moment. He was dining with his nephew, Edward J. Lehmann, Jr., 3602 Sheridan road, Chicago, and several friends when the fatal heart attack occurred. The meal was almost finished when he suddenly collapsed over the table. He was dead before his physician, Dr. William Stuhl, could reach his side.

Mr. Lehmann has lived for the last 10 years at his estate at Lake Villa, although he maintained a residence in Chicago.

He was one of the heirs to his father's $8,000,000 estate, and his manor at Lake Villa is a beauty spot well known throughout the country. He devoted practically all of his time to the raising of blooded stock.

Although his brothers and sisters had been active in the management of the Fair store, he had no active connection with the business other than his share in the estate of his father. Besides his widow, Mrs. Clara Lehmann, the deceased is survived by one son, Ernest E., Jr.; a daughter, Miss Jean Lehmann; two brothers, Edward J. Lehmann, former president of the Fair, and Otto W. Lehmann; and two sisters, Mrs. L. D. Behr, and Miss Augusta Lehmann, who is now in Europe.

Small Towns Must
Nominate by Caucus

Municipalities with a population of 5,000 or less must nominate candidates by caucus and not by the holding of primaries, according to an opinion by the attorney general's office. The opinion, which was asked by A. W. Schimel, Pike county, stated this was based on amendment of the law by the last legislature.

Better Citizenship Is Goal of Schools; Antioch Above Average, Prin. Petty Says

Local Institutions Are Up and Coming in Training of Youth

ANTIOCH PUBLIC WILLING TO PAY FOR GOOD SCHOOLS

By W. C. PETTY

Parents today who are seeking a place to properly rear their children are demanding a locality that is salubrious, in which the general community life is sane and wholesome. If a locality is to be selected by thinking parents, it must afford schools which take into account the individual needs of the children and regard recreation as a part of the educational program. Parents mindful of their children will look for a community where the social life is simple and friendly and where there is opportunity for training in music, art, and dramatics. These same parents will also seek a community where there is something of the educational and domestic guidance offered.

Antioch Gives Youth Chance.

Such optimum conditions are not naturally the concomitant of the more expensive residential districts; neither are they to be expected in the cheaper. It takes something more than a real estate boom to insure these cultural luxuries. Rather, these conditions are to be found in the community that desires to further family life and is willing and prepared to forego some other interests in order that the youth may have ac-

MISS FLORA DEVOSSE TO HAVE TITLE ROLE IN "PEG O'MY HEART"

Popular Actress Returns to Footlights With Rotnour Players

Miss Flora DeVosse, ever popular stage favorite, returns to the footlights next week when she appears with the Rotnour Players in the title role of the popular drama, "Peg O'My Heart." The play is to be presented at the Crystal theatre, Antioch, Tuesday night.

It was after numerous requests made to Manager J. B. Rotnour to have Miss DeVosse appear that she consented to return in one of her favorite roles after an absence from the footlights of more than five years.

She chose "Peg O'My Heart," a play that has added to her fame throughout the middle west. Thousands of theatre-goers throughout the circuit are looking forward to seeing Miss DeVosse next week in one of the best dramas ever written—"Peg O'My Heart."

Damage To Siren Costs Fire Department $50

Settlement was made last week by the Fire department for repairs on the fire siren to the amount of $50. The damage was done on New Year's eve, when it was thrown into reverse by one who didn't understand the switches. Amusement of this sort proved very expensive for the department.

Local Schools Above Par

How, then, about Antioch? Can it qualify? I believe that I am conservative in saying that it meets the conditions. We are up and coming in which one may view the educational situation. Our school buildings and equipment are evidence of the community's willingness to be taxed for this worthy enterprise. In teaching and training Antioch ranks high. The school boards have insisted upon qualified teachers and have been willing to pay for them. The grade and high school curricula are perhaps not so wide as to satisfy every need; yet the opportunities offered in music, art, and vocational work are quite extensive. Just this year the

PRIN. PETTY IS KEENLY INTERESTED IN LIFE WORK

In all probability the author of the accompanying article knows as much about public schools as anyone in Lake county, and because there are thousands of sober-minded persons who have this opinion, they seek to place him at the head of the Lake county public school system. The man is W. C. Petty, supervising principal of the Antioch schools.

Under his wise guidance a co-operation and working efficiency has been established that keeps the Antioch schools second to none. Prin. Petty shares with the entire community a very justifiable pride in Antioch schools.

Floyd Mathews recently accepted a position in Chicago as a registered pharmacist.

Word comes from Mr. and Mrs. Robert Selter, Brownsville, Texas, that the climate down there is very agreeable to them.

LAKE VILLA CAR BANDIT IS GIVEN ONE YEAR TO LIFE

Arthur Reid Fears Prisoners' Welcome Will Be Unkind

HAS LONG CRIMINAL RECORD

Being sentenced yesterday to serve from one year to life in the Joliet penitentiary, Arthur Reid, notorious criminal who was caught after a gun fight in the Lake Villa yards of the Soo line, will go back to prison where he became an informer on his brother convicts in 1927. His welcome, he pointed out to Sheriff Dooley, will be none too kind and he looks for death at the first opportunity the convicts get to do it out.

Denying motion made by Attorney Kurt Klesow for a new trial, Circuit Judge C. Edwards made the statement that he was in no position under the law to send Reid to any other prison.

To Be Taken Monday
"Saturday is prison hath day; the men will be able to get at me then", he said when pleading with the sheriff to take him Monday instead of Saturday.

PROHIBITION PROGRESS

Ten years after the passage of the 18th amendment we find the traffic in alcohol still uncontrolled, as it has been for the last 5,000 years. The American people are making a poor job of enforcing laws and as there are more evasions of the prohibition laws than of other laws, there are many who will claim that the law enforcing machinery is breaking down, because the liquor laws cannot be enforced. We have never been able to subscribe to such a policy. Failure to enforce laws is primarily the result of graft in government and cowardice on the part of the people.

The American people can enforce laws if they wish. Whether it be to protect life and property or to curb the activities of the bootlegger, enforcement is possible, but difficult. In fact it seems that American business men are too busy making profits to enforce laws.

We are the richest nation in the world has ever known, but what will wealth amount to if the government is unable to protect life and property?

PROPAGANDA STUFF

This is an age when the world is flooded with propaganda. Every day tons of matter go through the mail that is supposed to be educational. In reality it is to put over some idea that will assist the one who is paying for the publicity. Lecturers who are pretending to represent disinterested organizations go out and it is later discovered that some big combinations of capital have them on their pay roll. Newspapers buy the services of these furnishers of high-priced men and then these writers introduce stuff that is advertising Texas lands. At other times the aircraft makers are suspected of subsidizing these feature writers. Read a magazine and you are never sure that the articles are not prepared at the order of some concern that is financially interested in influencing public opinion. It is said that Russia has a system of subsidizing writers such that almost anyone wishing to visit there may do so at a nominal expense if the government is permitted to determine what they see and how they should describe it.

HOW ABOUT HOME ACTION?

The Senate recently started on what is forecast as a six-months session.

A major issue during the session will be the tariff. American industry is hampered so long as its fate, in relation to imported goods, hangs in the balance.

If the Senate really wants to accomplish something that will benefit industry, wage-earners and farmers, the passage of a fair tariff bill supplies the answer.

WHAT IS CORRUPTION IN GOVERNMENT?

Corruption in government is not merely a matter of the passing and taking of bribes, or the buying of votes or making "ideals" to insure elections.

The official who supports, vocally, a law which he laughs at, among his friends or in privacy of his home, is corrupt exactly as the official who accepts an actual cash bribe.

VIRGINIA LEADS THE WAY

In 1928, the state of Virginia appointed a commission to prepare a program for the relief of agriculture in that state. The report of this commission has just been made public.

One of its chief recommendations is for the extension of construction activity upon farm-to-market roads, as feeders for the state highway system.

Practically all states are beginning to realize the necessity for good roads in the farming sections to enable the farmer to transport his produce when market conditions are most favorable instead of when the roads are passable, and to alleviate the social isolation which used to be synonymous with living on a farm.

While main through highways are of course indispensable, lower cost hard surfaced roads reaching all farms (so-called farm-to-market roads), are equally necessary to an efficient highway system.

Old Eagle Eye Says-

THE SEAT OF THE SCORNFUL

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

Since they have been capable of conscious emotion men have desired happiness, and have sought it in every occupation of life. One has only to look about him to know how very many unhappy people there are in the world.

Four thousand years ago it was as it is today. In King David's time men were searching in vain for happiness and that keen observer of human nature laid down certain laws for reaching a happy and contented state of mind.

"Happy is the man," he says, "who walketh not in the counsel of the ungodly, nor standeth in the way of sinners, nor sitteth in the seat of the scornful."

There is no happiness resulting in a deviation from virtue, in the violation of law, nor in a feeling of superiority over those with whom we associate daily. Virtue, honesty, humbleness of mind—these characteristics are at the foundation of happiness.

Youth, it seems to me, has a little tendency these days to stand on one side watching the procession of middle-aged and old passing by and to curl his lips and raise his eyebrows in a somewhat supercilious way, scorning the faith and the accomplishment and the manner of life of those who have preceded him.

The easiest thing in the world is to criticize what other people have done or believed; to find weaknesses and faults and mistakes of all sorts, to scorn what has been done by our elders. But the scornful are never happy. One might imagine that there might be a sense of satisfaction in a feeling of superiority, but it is not so.

I attended a convention of young people not many weeks ago, and after it was over I had a letter from one of the delegates. He had taken no part in the discussions, but he was scuttling in his comments upon the way the business had been carried on and upon the character of the legislation which had been enacted. His whole attitude was one of superiority and scorn of his fellows, but he was far from happy.

As I was coming from Honolulu to San Francisco last summer I met in the boat a British missionary who had spent most of his life working with the people of India in some way if possible to make their lives happier and more comfortable, and their religion more vital. He told us of his faith and his work one afternoon as we sat about the lounge—simply, sincerely, and I thought very effectively. There was a young girl listening with a sneer on her face, scornful of every reference to the power of religion to mold men's lives. She was superior to everything of that sort. She had no use for religion of any sort, she said, and especially for the Christian religion. But her face was hard, un-sympathetic, discontented. She was terribly unhappy.

Learn to stop crouching. If you cannot see any good, in the world, keep the bad to yourself. Learn to hide your pains and aches under pleasant smiles. No one cares to hear whether you have earache, headache, or rheumatism.

Don't cry. Tears do well enough in novels, but are out of place in real life. Learn to meet your friends with a smile. A good-humored man or woman is always welcome, but the dyspeptic or hypochondriac is not wanted anywhere, and is a nuisance as well.

Above all, give pleasure. Lose no chance of giving pleasure. You will pass through this world but once. Any good thing, therefore, that you can do, or any kindness that you can show to any human being, you had better do it now; do not defer or neglect it, for you will not pass this way again.

KONJOLA MAKES SALES RECORD IN 48 HOURS

Orders For Fifteen Car- loads of Medicine Re- ceived

What is believed to be a record in the history of the prepared medicine business is reported by the Mosby Medicine company, Cincinnati, manufacturers of Konjola.

In 48 hours, during the week of January 1st, 1930, orders for fifteen carloads of Konjola were received. This was not the result of a special sales drive, but the orders poured in during the regular course of business, when many great wholesale drug companies sought to replenish their stock after taking the customary annual inventories.

Commenting upon this unprecedented order, Mr. G. H. Mosby, president of the company said: "This means that more than a quarter of a million bottles of Konjola are needed at once to supply the demand, and this record-breaking bit of business, which I believe to be unheard of in the merchandising of medicine, may be attributed to two factors. One of them is the merit of the product, and the other is the consistent newspaper advertising back of Konjola. Cer-

ANTIQUES, ILLINOIS WOMAN IS POSSESSOR OF MANY VALUABLE ANTIQUES

Autograph Book, Old Newspapers Among Treasures
Of Mrs. Haynes

MOTHER KNEW WHITTIER

A sense of perfect amazement would descend upon you should you have the privilege of seeing and handling the quaint old historical things that Mrs. Alice Haynes, Parkview, possesses. Should you go there you would find antiques that are priceless, antiques that would make collectors stand up and take notice, antiques that are unequalled in the realms of fiction! Just to gaze upon these things, which are so old and quaint, to say nothing of handling them makes one feel rather ritzy.

His Autograph Book

It has been frequently remarked that the handwriting of an individual bears a close analogy to his character. If this be true, Mrs. Haynes could spend the rest of her life studying character, because she has in her possession a book of autographs which has been handed down to her from an aunt, who, by the way, spent two years of her life in Paris studying art. When she left Boston, where her home was, the man for whom she worked wished to give her gift and so told her she could take her choice between this autograph book and a book of action. She chose the former and, consequently, Mrs. Haynes has the privilege of owning it today. It contains the autographs of about 100 famous men, among them being those of George Washington, John Quincy Adams, and William Bradford. In this book there is also the original copy of a letter written by J. T. Gilman, governor of New Hampshire in 1814.

Newspapers Hundreds of Years Old

Among her other treasures are many many newspapers. She has the Boston Weekly News-Letter published in 1708, in which there is a long discourse on electricity written by John Whittier, who closes by saying, "But it may justly be hoped that careful observations on the course of lightning, the manner in which different bodies are affected by it, the particular situation of these bodies, and the neighboring ones, and the distance to which points extend their protecting influence will lead to further discoveries on this interesting subject". Poor old John would surely rub his eyes in amazement should he come to life today and see over every hand the drastic changes that have taken place through the agency of electricity. The Boston News-Letter, as you will recall from your history, was the only newspaper published on the American continent during the reign of Queen Anne, and there were only about 30,000 copies printed annually. In Mrs. Haynes' portfolio there is also a copy of the Myrtle Wreath published at Concord on Thursday, November 8, 1831, and the London Gazette of January 18, 1695. The latter, a weekly paper, was first published at Oxford on August 22, 1642, and it remained a weekly until the Revolution of 1688.

Historical Letter Interesting

Of interest to historians would be a letter from Ursilia Cutt to Richard Waldron, which was written at Portsmouth on May 19, 1691. This same woman was killed three years later by the Indians. In this same collection is a copy of the hymns that were sung at the centennial celebration of the settlement of Boston in 1830, and a picture of the Trumbull in 1630. As you know the city of Boston was built on this chain.

Has Ring With A History

Mrs. Haynes has a gold ring which was made from a gold leaf that was sent to her aunt from California at the time of the gold rush there.

Among the other antiques which she has is a solid silver set which originally came from Boston; gold thimbles, and two tiny Bibles, one of which was printed in 1848, and the other in 1855. She also has several crayon pictures of relatives which her aunt drew.

Whittier Visited Mother's Home

Not infrequently did John Greenleaf Whittier and his sister visit at the home of her mother when the family lived in the East. Mrs. Haynes said that her mother was deeply impressed with the beautiful features of John G. sister.

LAKE CO. TO SHARE IN DISTRIBUTION OF
STATE AID MONEYEighty-six Counties That Held Shows to Receive
$23,636.76

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 23—Gov. Louis L. Emmerman announced today that the state department of Agriculture, directed by Clarence F. Buck, will pay this week the first state aid that 4-H club shows now are entitled to receive by way of premium reimbursement.

Mr. Buck informed Governor Emmerman that the state aid totals $23,636.76. It will be distributed to farm bureaus in eighty-six counties, which held club shows in 1929.

The measure authorizing the distribution was passed at the last session of the legislature. Under its provisions, the 4-H clubs that hold competitive exhibits of live stock, poultry, grain and other agricultural products may derive aid to the extent of three-fourths of the premiums paid, up to a total of $700.

Thus each county may draw as much as $525 from the fund. Of that amount, $105 may be used by each county in reimbursement of home economics premiums.

The legislature provided $10,000 annually for 1929 and 1930 for these reimbursements. The fund is derived from fees and admission taxes collected by the state from licensed jockey clubs.

Of the 86 county clubs participating in this premium fund for 1929, thirteen paid upward of $700 in premiums and therefore are entitled to the maximum allotment of $525.

These 86 counties, Mr. Buck's tabulation shows, paid out $29,095 in premiums but will realize $20,422 from the state. In home economics shows, the premium payments (total) of $4,639. The reimbursement will be $3,213.65.

The thirteen counties entitled to draw the maximum amount of state aid are:

Bureau, Coles, Douglas, Fulton, Henry, LaSalle, McLean, Macon, Marshall-Putnam, Mercer, Peoria, Sangamon, Williamson.

Lake county will draw $203.03 of the state funds for agriculture and $27.75 for home economics.

RAILROAD MAN STAUNCH FRIEND OF NEW KONJOLA

Suffered Fifteen Years
With Indigestion And
Other Ills—Praises
Modern Medicine

MR. HECTOR L. PAQUIN

"For fifteen years I was the victim of stomach trouble", said Mr. Hector L. Paquin, 4536 North Hermitage avenue, Chicago. "I often wondered, as I tried in vain different medicines and treatments, if anyone ever had indigestion as bad as I had and got over it. I was constipated chronically and my system must have been fairly saturated with poisons and impurities. No wonder I became highly nervous. I could not rest well, and every morning I got up tired, worn-out and groggy. Sometimes I had terrible headaches all day long.

"To my astonishment, and delight, two bottles of Konjola did no more good than all the medicines combined I had tried in fifteen years. Two more bottles won a complete victory over my health troubles. I am feeling simply great and never overlook the opportunity to tell what this splendid medicine did for me."

Konjola is sold in Antioch at S. H. Reeves' drug store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.—Adv.

BUILDERS ACHIEVE HOUSE OF FUTURE IN 1930 HOMES

Rosy Dreams of Architects
Come True in The Best
Modern Homes

By Wyatt Brummitt

For years, architects, builders and prospective home owners have been dreaming of an ideal modern home. The dreams have varied a little, naturally, but in general they have been very much alike.

The year 1930 can make those dreams come true. In many cases it has already happened. The house of the future is here.

These are some of the features which have been had in their minds: clean-cut beauty, complete fireproofing, structural strength, low first cost, minimum maintenance cost, weather-tightness that means easy heating in winter and easy cooling (possibly artificial) in summer, controlled ventilation and the utmost in convenient arrangement to meet the everyday needs of modern, motor-age, living.

In practically every part of the country there are new houses, finished or under construction, which embody all or many of these characteristics. In California, for example, the United States Army Air Service is taking the lead in building officers' bungalows, at March Field, which are as modern as the fleet planes that maneuver overhead. A double concrete wall, with an enclosed air space, affords the utmost in cool comfort, no matter how hot the day may be. The roofs are also doubly protected and the deep-set windows transmit the maximum of light and a minimum of hot glare.

And when cool days come, a relatively small heating unit suffices, for there is no convection of heat to the outside. Incidentally, the March Field quarters are architecturally revolutionary, as far as Army posts are concerned, for they have been designed with an eye to beauty as well as to the other qualities of modern construction. In other parts of the country there are small and large houses which, by the judicious use of modern materials from footings to chimney cap, are making the dream of the ideal house of the future come true.

Many of the designs which have been aired in home journals and architectural magazines are for large, extensive dwellings, suitable to people of wealth. This is natural, for it costs no more to dream on an elaborate scale than on a modest one. But there is ample evidence to prove that the small house can be as truly modern in every detail, as the mansion.

And it is the small house owner who most appreciates the economies and conveniences of real 1930 construction.

As a matter of fact, he cannot afford to build an old-fashioned house, with its prodigal waste of space, of fuel for heating and of money for maintenance.

SEQUOITS WIN VICTORY FROM LYDEN, NORTH CHICAGO, BARRINGTON

Antioch Sequoits sprung a surprise in a conference trilek when they ambushed the strong Barrington team, winning by a score of 26-17.

Although Antioch was in the lead during the entire contest, the Barrington boys put up a real fight and it was only in the last few seconds that the Antioch players felt that the lead was sufficient to put the game on ice.

Barrington had some hard luck in that they were unable to sink their shots. Antioch's fast breaking offense kept the ball in possession of the Sequoits the greater share of the time. It is quite likely that Barrington and Antioch will meet in the tournament Saturday p. m. for the semi-finals. This should be one of the best games of the tournament.

Antioch's Mihora won from Barrington's Lightweights by a 15-13 count.

The young braves journeyed to Leyden Saturday night and secured a victory from Coach Watson's crew, winning by a score of 30-14. The boys felt that this was a revenge for the defeat handed them during the football season. Watson has a plentiful supply of guards, but a scarcity of basket sinking players. The Leyden Lightweights lost to Antioch by 12-10.

Local players will go to Arlington Heights Friday night. This should be a very interesting game, because Antioch won from this team by only one point the first of the season. Both teams play the same type of game and the players' techniques are similar.

On Saturday evening St. Mary's High school will be entertained in the local gym. Its team is reputed to be an exceptionally strong aggregation. This will be the last game before the tournament next week.

The Sequoits are now tied for first place in the conference standing, each team having lost one game.

The schedule for the tournament is as follows:

The first session will be held at Arlington Heights, Thursday, January 30. The first game will be between Gurnee and Libertyville; the second between Arlington Heights and Palatine.

On Friday, evening the north and south sections will hold separate sessions. At Bensenville, the first session will be between Barrington and Leyden. The second game will be between Bensenville and the winner of the Heights-Palatine game.

The north section will be entertained at Antioch, the first game being between Ela and the winner of the Gurnee-Libertyville game.

The second game will be between Wauconda and Antioch.

The semi-finals and finals will be held Saturday afternoon and evening at Libertyville. The first game in the afternoon will be between the winners of the Antioch-Wauconda game and the Barrington-Leyden game.

The other Friday evening winners will play the second game. The losers of the afternoon game will play at 7:30 and the winners at 8:30. Trophies for first and second places will be awarded.

The committee in charge of general arrangements consists of: F. C. Fenton of Bensenville; H. E. Underhink of Libertyville; and L. O. Bright, Antioch.

Lung Capacity

In spite of every effort to expel all air from the lungs, there remains always about 100 cubic inches. An additional 30 inches or so enters the lung with each breath under normal conditions. However, with exertion, 100 cubic inches may enter. The average daily "intake" is 300,000 cubic inches.

ANTIOCH SCHOOLS ARE ABOVE PAR, PRINCIPAL AVERS

(Continued from first page) grade school put in an art department that is proving unique in its work. More stress too is being given music through the establishment of a grade school orchestra. This makes an easy transition into the high school's music courses.

Versatile Curriculum at A. T. H. S. The standing of our community high school is far above the average. One needs only to walk through its trophy room to understand the high place it has achieved in scholastic, vocational, and athletic contests. I know of no high school in Antioch's enrollment class which is more enthusiastic in bringing out the musical talent of its students. This issue of the Antioch News will convince my readers of our high school's athletic rating.

Better Citizenship Goal of Schools I am convinced therefore that the Antioch schools are attempting very successfully to equip their pupils with abilities not only to make a living but to spend wisely a leisure. The school boards and administrators are aware of the fact that crime occurs when people are off duty; and that the people who have not learned to employ their leisure time properly are the source of our delinquent classes. All of those lines of endeavor in trying to run our schools scientifically with a better citizenry as a goal surely make manifest the feeling of the Antioch public toward its schools. If you care for a concrete example of Antioch's interest in its schools, I invite you to attend our Parent-Teachers' association meetings. The organization is one of the most flourishing in the state and its enrollment is remarkably high in comparison with our population.

REGIONAL SYSTEM OF AIRPORTS IS BEING PLANNED FOR CHGO

Airport Needs of Metropolitan Area To Be Discussed

Plans for an adequate system of airports for the region of Chicago will feature the Annual Meeting of the Chicago Regional Planning Association, Thursday evening, February 6, at the Palmer House, Chicago, according to D. H. Burnham, president of the association.

"General John F. O'Rynn, chairman, Colonial Airways Corporation, New York will address more than 700 Regional Plan members", said Mr. Burnham. "He will point out the definite need of landing fields which are large in area, properly located, and well built. His experience not only in the general problems of airway routing, operation and financing, but in the practical details of locating and building airport systems give General O'Rynn's conclusions and recommendations special weight. Aviation interests from a 50 mile radius of Chicago are planning to attend."

"Three other planning subjects will be the focus of discussion in the earlier session of the full day meeting the Association has on February 6," Mr. Burnham continued. "The morning will be devoted to current zoning problems which are constantly coming before boards of appeal and city councils".

"The noon luncheon will be devoted to the subject of harbors and waterways, and the afternoon session will feature highway problems of regional character".

"Every zoning and municipal office in the suburbs and Chicago is invited to hear and take part in the discussion of the distinction between zoning amendments and variations which are within the scope of zoning appeal boards".

"What projects should be completed at once, and what others should follow promptly to provide adequate terminals, docks and industrial sites are to be described and illustrated by lantern slides by Major Rufus W. Putnam at the noon luncheon session.

As engineer for the Harbor Plan of Chicago, Major Putnam is prepared to present definitely the steps that must be taken at once.

Devoting the afternoon to highways, the principles and practical plans of separating the grades of highways and railways will be discussed.

"No highway system is adequate for a metropolitan area if unavoidable delays are caused at the intersections of two highways or of a highway and a railway", the Association President continued; "both railway and highway engineers are co-operating in an investigation of grade crossings in the region of Chicago to determine a schedule of separation of grades or adequate protection".

FIVE CANDIDATES SEEK SHERIFF POST IN LAKE COUNTY

(Continued from first page) tried and acquitted former Guyor Small of graft charges. LaTorre was made superintendent of prisons of Illinois and then warden at Joliet penitentiary.

Deputy H. A. Doolittle of Waukegan, father of Sheriff Doolittle, is the administration candidate.

Brown Candidacy Booming

The fifth entrant is Edward A. Brown, for 11 years member of the Lake county board of supervisors, and for 20 years a business man of Round Lake. He is the only candidate from the western part of the county. Brown's candidacy is meeting with much favor throughout the county, and he is going to be a formidable warrior in the race, according to his friends, who are doing everything in their power to further the interests of their favorite candidate.

All five candidates are Republicans. Democrats do not nominate candidates for county office.

CRANDALL ICE CO., HAULS
6,000 LBS. OF 1930 ICE

The last chunk of the 1930 ice harvest went into the Crandall Ice house Friday. A total of 6,000 pounds was hauled, according to Les Crandall, who was in charge of the job.

Contrasting the harvest now with that 20 years ago, old timers say that then nearly all of the hands employed were Chicagoans, who came out for the annual "booz".

SCHOOL DAYS

SCHOOL DAYS! What a wealth of memory and charm those simple words hold for most of us!

The most valuable and cherished days in one's life are school days. They are not only the days in which the fundamentals of knowledge are acquired, but they are also the days in which character, habits and personality are moulded and shaped.

Our homes exert the greatest influence over our boys and girls, but the next greatest influence that determines the type of future citizens of our community is the School.

It is most unfortunate that a nation-wide survey of our United States shows that there are far too many children and youths who are not enjoying the school days that should be such an important part of their early lives.

School attendance is a Community problem, because schools are far and away the chief community enterprise. There is, on an average, as much invested in school property as there is in all other public property combined. The schools should be the best administered phase of our civic life.

The average community spends over $100 each year on every child attending school and is devoting $200 worth of school property per pupil. However, the average Community does not rate high on its schools because it seldom has much in the way of Vocational education. Still more often it has little or nothing in the way of Evening Schools. The system of grade and high schools of the average community usually rates but 75% of standard.

It is important in our progress as a community that our schools be above average—that they train our boys and girls efficiently—that they properly equip them to meet the trials and opportunities of life. Our aim should be:

1. Modern school buildings, equipment and recreational facilities.
2. A school year that covers nine months of the year.
3. Efficient teachers who are well paid.
4. All children of school age attending school regularly.
5. All of our children graduating from grade and high school.
6. A higher education, or special vocational education, for all those whose future duties will require special training.

Only a limited number of men and women in our town give our school system proper attention. Responsibility lies on the shoulders of a mere few. As our chief community enterprise, our schools deserve the thought and attention of everyone.

School Days! For memories' sake and for our children, any goal less than the "best in the world" for our schools should be too low for.

Transferring Game

Deer have been brought from the West to replenish the big-game population of eastern forests, but without marked success. However, transfer of game from parts of the country which are overstocked to places where it is wanted is being done wherever practical.

A Sour Stomach

In the same time it takes a dose of soda to bring a little temporary relief of gas and sour stomach, Phillips Milk of Magnesia has acidity completely checked, and the digestive organs are tranquilized. Once you have tried this form of relief you will cease to worry about your diet and experience a new freedom in eating.

This pleasant preparation is just as good for children, too. Use it whenever coated tongue or fetid breath signals need of a sweetener. Physicians will tell you that every spoonful of Phillips Milk of Magnesia neutralizes many times its volume in acid. Get the genuine, the name Phillips is important. Imitations do not act the same!

"I suppose you are right," she sighed. "Well, don't blame me if anything goes wrong. Of all the bare-brained—"

"Hats!" I scoffed. "If they jump us, and there are too many of them, we'll retreat. But maybe we can clean up this job tonight for good and all. If we can, it's worth trying."

Watkins emerged from the cabin with the tools. Nikka insisted that he was the best climber of the party, and took charge of the rope. Hugh and I carried the crowbars, which we wrapped in sailcloth to prevent their clanking against the stones of the wall. Then we stepped onto the silvery rocks of the jetty, Nikka in the lead.

It was a perilous climb to the shore, and we negotiated it slowly, helping one another and taking every precaution to avoid making any noise. At last we found ourselves in a jumble of boulders constituting the breaker at the foot of the sea wall, which reared its moss-grown battlements high overhead. We turned to the left here, and crawled over and through the rocks on the beach to a point under the overhanging wall of the House of the Murred. From the beach it looked unclimbable, but Nikka, after surveying its mounting courses, removed his shoes and started the ascent, no end of the grapnel rope coiled around his waist.

We who watched him stood with knocking hearts for what seemed an eternity. Spread-eagled against the wall, he appeared as infinitesimal as a fly in the darkness. Our first knowledge that he had succeeded came when he jerked up the grapnel lying on the beach at our feet. He hoisted it slowly, lest it clung against the wall, adjusted its prongs and tossed down the knotted length of rope.

Hugh followed him with ease, bracing his feet against the wall when he was tired. Then I went up. Then my uncle. Watkins came last. It was now well toward midnight, and a haze was settling over the city. The Carleau was invisible even to us who knew precisely her location. The silence was absolute. The water lapped on the beach below. That was all.

Naturally and by right, Hugh took command. It was his expedition.

"Do we go down through the trap door Jack and Nikka used, or do we use the rope to drop directly into the garden?" he asked.

"Best use the trap door," advised Nikka.

"Yes," I agreed. "Then the rope will always be handy in case you want to escape."

"Right O!" endorsed Hugh cheerfully. "Jack, you and Nikka will come with me. Professor King and Watt will be rear guard and second-line for emergency use. Sit where you are, professor, until you hear from us."

We crossed the room toward Sokak Mysceri, the large courtyard on our right, the Garden of the Cedars on our left. The trap door was shut, but unfastened, and Hugh lowered himself gently, and creaked down to the floor. We followed him. The room was in pitch-darkness, but we made certain by touch that it was empty. The door to the hall was off its hinges, but propped in place.

"I've picked up a chair leg," Nikka whispered by the broken door. "You fellows—your crowbars—if—"

He paused significantly.

"Right," Hugh whispered back. "Can we lift this door up side?"

The hinges rattled slightly as we shifted it. The next moment we peered through a yawning cavity, ears alert. Not a sound reached us as we stole forward with the utmost care. Midway of the hall were the corkscrew stairs up which Kura had guided Nikka and me. I judged we were close to them when a door jutted beside us. There was a shout, and we were surrounded by a mob of half-seen figures. They were all around us, but in the darkness they got in each other's way, and I thought we could beat them off.

A man seized me by the shoulder, and I drove my fist into his face. Two others leaped on me. I cracked the skull of one with my crowbar, and broke the arm of the second. Hugh in front of me was driving his opponents down the stairs. I heard Nikka exclaim once, then a gasp, and a light flashed. Hugh had cleared a space, but went down as I looked, throned from behind. Nikka was just rising from beside a man whose head was crushed in. Then the rush began again.

I reached for my pistol, but did not have time to draw it. The attackers surged in from all sides. I had a fleeting glimpse of Nikka's voice. He had shaken himself clear.

"In that door—opposite—reach who down!" he gasped.

We charged and split a path toward the door of one of the rooms. As we reached it, a pair of gorilla-like arms wound around my neck. I tried to hit over my shoulder with the crowbar, but somebody caught my wrist. As I fell I heard Nikka's cry:

"Huu, Professor! Save Betty! We're—"

That was all. Toutou had me on the floor and was choking the life out of me. I lost consciousness.

When I came to I was lying on a very damp, hard-floor. Several lights dazzled my aching eyes, and a number of people were talking in French.

"Huu, Nash is with us again," said Hillyer's voice. "I was afraid you might have done him in, Toutou."

"If you take my advice," I recognized Hillyer's falsetto tones—"you will have Toutou operate on all three of them. He has ways to make silent men speak. Do you remember Rutter, the Swiss broker, Toutou?"

Toutou's answer was an almost indistinguishable, "guhrrrrr-rrrr-rr" of rage.

Alive now to the position I was in, I opened my eyes wider and tried to rise. But I was bound hand and foot, and could not move. I could, however, see where I was. Not far away Hugh and Nikka were propped against the wall.
